SPEAKERS

Samantha Clarke
On 'Loving Change'

Details of the talk

We can all agree that 2016 was a year of change on many levels. Samantha will address how to deal with change in a positive way; be it at work, at home or on a larger scale. As change happens at an ever increasing rate, Samantha will look at strategies to embrace the opportunities it brings.

Bio

Samantha's mission is to help companies and individuals by giving advice on the small things they can do to make a big difference. She's talked at The Guardian, Soho House and is a faculty member at The School of Life. She has also written and commented for Forbes, Harper's Bazaar, BBC 1Xtra and City AM.

John-Paul Flintoff
On 'How to change the world'

Details of the talk

Writer of How To Change The World, John-Paul returns to Life With Law to discuss how to identify what is most important to you and ways to overcome the obstacles that may hold you back. He comes to us to ask "How can I, one individual in a world of billions, change things?".

Bio

John-Paul is a speaker, writer, journalist and blogger. His book, How to Change The World, is published in 15 languages worldwide. A multiple TED talker and performer, John-Paul spent most of his career as a feature-writer on The Sunday Times and The Financial Times magazines. He has also worked as (among much else) a rat-catcher, an undertaker's assistant and a high-rise window cleaner.
